State Agricultural Laboratory

Date: November 2, 2009

Dear Veterinarian:

Due to budget cuts forced upon the Arizona Department of Agriculture as a result of the current shortfall in state funding, the State Agricultural Laboratory will no longer be able to analyze animal blood samples for the causal organisms of brucellosis. Effective November 20, 2009 the State Agricultural Laboratory will no longer accept blood samples for brucella testing.

We have been working with the USDA/Veterinary Services to find other facilities that can accommodate your analysis needs and are providing two lists for your use. The first list contains federally certified laboratories in our region that have indicated they would accept samples from Arizona veterinarians. The list includes the University of Arizona, Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory in Tucson which is in the process of becoming certified to perform brucella testing of cattle. The second list is provided by USDA and includes all laboratories in the country currently certified to perform brucella testing.

We regret the need to discontinue these services to Arizona's veterinary community. If you have any concerns or questions please contact us. Thank you.

Doug Marsh
